The Center for Science, Technology, and Society (CSTS) provides opportunities for humanists, scientists (social, behavioral, and natural), and engineers to collaborate on innovative research that addresses how science and technology shape, and are shaped by, our society, culture, politics, and the environment.

Dr. Kelly Elkins is an Associate Professor at Towson University in Towson, Maryland. Chemistry Ph.D.

Dr. Elkins received two undergraduate degrees in Chemistry and Biology from Keene State College and went on to obtain a Chemistry Ph.D. from Clark University.

All members of the S&T community are invited to attend Dr. Elkin’s presentation. Please direct questions to Kris Swenson, interim director of the Center for Science, Technology, and Society, at kswenson@mst.edu
